

BROTHER AND SISTER CITED
FOR FINE RECORDS IN WAR

Son and Daughter of Dr. H. A. Stimson Receive Honors From Gen. Pershing.

Dr. Philip Moen Stimson, a Captain in the United States Army, and his sister, Miss Julia C. Stimson, who was chief nurse of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, have been honored for their services. They are the son and daughter of the Rev. Dr.

Henry A. Stimson, for nearly twenty-one years pastor of the Manhattan Congregational Church.

Capt. Stimson was severely wounded in the shoulder by shrapnel near Ypres. He has been Adjutant in the American Red Cross Military Hospital No. 1, in Paris, and received from Gen. Pershing a citation for "exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous service." He was attached to the New York Hospital for two years.

Miss Stimson recently returned to the United States wearing four service stripes. Before leaving France she received the British Royal Red Cross of the First Class and the American Distinguished Service Medal.

The De Havilland planes are to take officers who will carry photographs and blue prints to Gov. Smith showing the methods by which cities and towns can get the advantages accruing to communities which maintain flying fields.

GRENADES ON SALE
HERE CAN BE MADE INTO BOMB SHELLS

Eagan Says Army Weapon, Though Unloaded, Should Be Barred From Shops.

There are being sold in several shops in this city American hand grenades which might readily be used as ready-made bomb shells. The grenades are harmless in their present state, the fuze and T.N.T. having been removed, but they are convenient containers for explosives, in the opinion of Owen Egan, Chief of the Bureau of Combustibles. He declared today that their sale should be prohibited.

In the course of the investigation into the recent bomb outrages in this and other cities it was suggested that perhaps the terrorists would next resort to hand grenades in view of their having lost one of their members by the premature explosion of the infernal machine that partly wrecked the home of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer in Washington. The bomb used at the time of the simultaneous outrages on June 2 were skillfully contrived and the experts who constructed them doubtless would have no difficulty in converting grenades such as are on sale now into death dealing weapons.

A reporter for The Evening World bought one of the "harmless" grenades in a store in the lower part of Manhattan today. It was freshly sold for 25 cents without question. A window of the shop is devoted to a display of war relics and labels are exhibited to show they were bought from the War Department and inspected as "safe" by ordnance officers.

The grenade is the American adaptation of the famous Mills bomb. It is complete save for the detonator and the explosive and also a little spring that operates the trigger mechanism.

The "toy" was taken to Chief Egan's office and he was asked if there was anything to prevent a bomb thrower from utilizing it.

"There is nothing in the world to prevent," said Egan. "All that a terrorist needs is a container like this to manufacture a bomb; he doesn't even require the firing mechanism that this has."

Egan was asked if it was necessary for a terrorist to have both a detonating cap and T. N. T. or a similar explosive in order to use the grenade.

"Yes," he said, "but the bomb throwers don't seem to have any trouble in obtaining those things. I fancy there are many men formerly employed in powder works who have a large amount of caps and other explosives on hand. You can see how conveniently these grenades can be carried; I put this in my coat pocket and you would not suspect its presence. The grenade is a deeply corrugated so that it fits into a hundred pieces or more on exploding, showering a large area with shrapnel just as a shrapnel shell scatters bullets."

DEMONSTRATIVE STRIKE
IN FRANCE A FAILURE

Flags Fly in Italian Cities as a Protest Against Threatened Walk Out.

PARIS, July 22 (Havas).—The proposed international demonstrative strike, called for yesterday but "postponed" by the Labor Federation, was not fully effective anywhere in France, according to reports from the principal cities.

The strike movements were said not to have been fully organized even among the employees of corporations which expected their men to stop work, particularly at Lyons. At Brest only dockworkers went on strike. Miners in the Department of Gard also stopped work.

ROME, July 22 (Havas).—The proposed international demonstrative strike called for yesterday was not put into effect on any considerable scale in any of the large cities of Italy. In the cities flags were kept flying in what was said to be a movement of protest against the strike.

Deputy Turati, Intransigent Socialist leader, addressing an audience, was reported to have agreed that the general strike movement had been completely checked and that there was no "true internationalism."
